By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A northern West Sacramento neighborhood was disrupted for several hours on Monday afternoon as local police unsuccessfully searched for a wanted man.

SWAT teams and a bomb squad responded to a home on the 2200-block of Holly Street where police believed William Yberra, age 30, was holed up.

Feds offer licenses for nonprofit local radio

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Hankering to run your own little community radio station?

The FCC has announced it will grant licenses to a number of low-power, non-profit FM radio stations across the U.S. Applicants must be nonprofit groups, tribal organizations, state or local governments or entities which promise to serve the public safety.

The application period will be October 15-29 of this year.

"Common Frequency" is a national nonprofit based in Davis that aims to assist those involved in community and college radio. The group has released some information on the Low Power FM, or LPFM, project.

"There will likely be fierce competition to get these free licenses to broadcast," said a press release from Common Frequency. "Applicants will need to provide engineering studies, showing where their radio towers will be located, what areas will be served, proof that the signal will not interfere with other local radio frequencies, and more."

But Common Frequency added the wave of licensing will offer a "once in a lifetime opportunity," and said the group expects to be involved with helping some of the applicants for a new low-power station.

Interested people may visit www.commonfrequency.org.

West Sacramento is actually home to one existing radio station — KJAY 1430 AM, which describes itself as a "multicultural and religious" station that provides Hmong programming and other content. The station broadcasts from 40 acres at 5030 South River Road, near Burrows Ave. in Southport.

State fair entry celebrates Yolo

From Beth Gabor
County of Yolo

Yolo County took home a gold medal for its California State Fair booth in the counties' exhibit competition with the theme, "Yolo County — Planting Seeds for the Future" as well as a blue ribbon for best agriculture presentation.

Sponsors of the county's entry included Cal/West Seeds, California Seed Association, Eureka Seeds, Inc., Farmers' Rice Cooperative, Pacific International Rice Mills (PIRMI) and the Yolo County Visitors Bureau.

The exhibited highlighted things that make Yolo County a great place to live and work. To quote from the display:

"Technology. Farming. Higher Education. The building blocks of what makes Yolo County a great place to live and work. Seed technology and the industry associated with this booming science is simply the latest example, maintaining Yolo County's place at the forefront of programs that feed the world, maintain valuable agricultural lands and create a multitude of ancillary economic development benefits. Our heritage is agriculture. Our future is agriculture. Higher education and new technologies will guarantee that our future is bright."

Sponsors of the county's entry included Cal/West Seeds, California Seed

Association, Eureka Seeds, Inc., Farmers' Rice Cooperative, Pacific International Rice Mills (PIRMI) and the Yolo County Visitors Bureau.

A different world if women were in combat

As people who read this column regularly know, from time to time I have heated political discussions (usually on the phone so that we don't start throwing things at each other) with a longtime West Sacramento friend of mine who has a very conservative political point of view. He loves to jerk my chain, as I do his, and some years back, with his permission, I started calling him "Newt" when I quote him in this column, after Newt Gingrich, the very successful (before he self-destructed) former congressman and House Speaker from the state of Georgia. As you might remember, the real Newt was instrumental in winning back the United States House of Representatives for his Republican party in the 1990s and still enjoys running for president every chance he gets.

Anyway, the less-than-real Newt and I were chatting away the other evening when he suddenly was sure that he had finally found something we could both agree on — the role of women in the military, especially in the area of combat.

"Why would you think we would agree about that?" I asked Newt with interest.

"Well," said Newt, "as a Vietnam veteran yourself, I would hope that you would agree with me that there simply is no role whatsoever for women in combat, and that they should be staying home and raising their children."

"But what if they don't have any children?" I asked Newt.

"It doesn't matter. Women should still never be allowed to fight in a war under any circumstances. Admit it, you wouldn't have wanted a woman next to you in a foxhole in Vietnam, now would you?"

"Well, I guess that all depends," I pointed out.

"I'm serious," said Newt. "A lot of female soldiers have been killed in both Iraq and Afghanistan and I think that is simply awful! A great country like ours doesn't need to be giving their women a rifle and sending them off to fight and die in some faraway war."

"But it's my understanding," I said, "that most of the women we have sent overseas lately are doing non-combat duties."

"That may be," said Newt, "but they're still getting killed and seriously wounded and it's simply not acceptable. Don't you agree?"

"Well," I said, "as you know, I think it's unacceptable that any American soldier has to die in places like Iraq and Afghanistan where they don't belong."

"Just stay on the subject," said Newt. "Do you or do you not think American women should be allowed to be in combat?"

"I'm thinking about it, I'm thinking about it," I assured Newt.

"Well, while you are, think about this, too. You're back in Vietnam, you suddenly get ambushed, you're wounded, you're going to die if you don't get out of there quick, and the only soldier near enough to help you is a girl who is not strong enough to lift you up on her shoulders and get you out of there. Now how would you have liked that?"

"Actually," I said, "come to think of it, I was in a situation pretty similar to that once, and the only soldier near enough to help me was a big burly guy, and he didn't move a muscle until reinforcements got there."

"So," said Newt, obviously frustrated, "you're telling me you honestly think that men and women are equal in a combat situation?"

"I just don't know," I admitted. "I guess it would depend on the particular soldier. I'm sure that in some ways a man makes a better soldier, but I bet that in other ways, a woman does."

"You're just saying that because of all that women's-lib garbage you believe in and because you want to be politically correct," said Newt, raising his voice for the first time in our conversation. "Come on! Be honest! I want a yes or a no! Do you or do you not believe that women belong going off to fight in wars?"

After giving it a few minutes of serious thought, I finally said, "Okay, here is what I think. I think women should be allowed to fight in a war, but only if all the men have to stay home."

"Now what in the world is that supposed to mean?" demanded Newt, obviously becoming exasperated with me.

"Think about it," I encouraged Newt, who often has quite a bit of trouble thinking outside the envelope. "We would get all the countries in the world to sign a

'It doesn't matter,' said Newt.

'Women should still never be allowed to fight in a war under any circumstances. Admit it -- you wouldn't have wanted a woman next to you in a foxhole in Vietnam, now, would you?'

treaty or something saying that when the next war breaks out, only women will be allowed to go off and fight in it."

"And why would the countries of the world do something as stupid as that?" asked Newt with interest.

"Just think of all the lives that would be saved," I said.

"Why would lives be saved?"

"Well," I explained, "because unlike us men, the vast majority of women are much too smart to keep fighting and dying for years and years over things that don't make much sense and that in the end don't settle much of anything and often just end up making things worse. They have much more important stuff to do with their lives, like giving birth to the next generation and getting their sons and daughters properly raised and educated. I think it was Woody Allen who once said that the hardest part of any war is getting everyone to show up, and if only women were allowed to be soldiers, we might even end up getting rid of war all together, because I bet most women would have no problem whatsoever blowing off another stupid war, and they simply wouldn't show up!"

Judges retain their leaders

The judges of Yolo County's court system have voted for their presiding and assistant presiding judges for next year, and they've opted to go with the same people as in 2013.

Judge Steven M. Basha will continue serving as presiding judge through 2014, and Kathleen M. White will continue as assistant presiding judge.

The presiding judge is responsible for administration of the court in addition to serving in the courtroom. With the assistance of the Court Executive Officer, "the Presiding Judge, or 'PJ,' leads the court, establishes policies, allocated resources to promote public access to justice," and performs constraining our operations, the state-funded construction of the new Yolo Courthouse, and the transition into the new courthouse in early 2015, these are unprecedented times for our court," said Basha in the press statement. subject that had a felony warrant – a gang member and an ex-felon," reported Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department. "The cops saw him and he took off running."

Challenges facing Yolo courts include improving public access, and completing a move to a new court building by 2015

Yberra eluded officers on the first try, but police later received a tip that he was back at the house.

Police evacuated a neighboring apartment complex and some homes, said Sockman.

Eventually – by one citizen's report, aided by the bomb squad's robot – police made their entry into the suspect's residence. They didn't find him, said Sockman.

A witness told the News-Ledger that the house was filled with dozens of tear gas shell casings after police left, and some other property inside the home was damaged.

Yberra was wanted for felony "criminal threats" said Sockman.

An officer contacted the woman who said she had visited the man's house only "to greet the neighbors." She denied using the rifle and "stated she will be leaving the residence and moving to a homeless shelter."

July 14, 10 p.m.

Employees of an Ikea Court shoe store told police that suspects in an earlier theft had just come and gone again, leaving in a Dodge Ram without stealing anything.

An arriving officer saw the Ram park, and saw a man get out and go into the store. The officer phoned the store, which confirmed it was one of the suspects.

The officer watched the man come out and get into the pickup truck. During a traffic stop, the driver tried to jump out and flee, but was caught, and two others were detained.

"Two stolen pairs of shoes were located in plain view in the bed of the truck," reported an officer. An employee confirmed that the goods were stolen, and said they were worth $359.58. All three subjects were on parole or probation, and store employees confirmed they were the shoplifting suspects.

"A search of the vehicle located white crystal-like substance all over the back seat and floorboard and a torn plastic baggie," said an officer.

The substance was gathered and ID'd as 0.7 grams of methamphetamine. The trio – Sacramento men age 26 to 50 – were arrested.

July 14, 11 p.m.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"G.I. Joe: Retaliation" (PG-13) -- The evil Cobra Commandos have a big evil plan, and only the action-figure-inspired personnel of the G.I. Joe unit can stop them, again! This time, the Cobras have one of their operatives in the White House, so the Joes have a tiny nugget of plot to talk about between explosive action sequences. This time, Bruce Willis joins the crew to add his muscle mass to bulk already provided by Roadblock (Dwayne Johnson) and Duke (Channing Tatum).

Do not, under any circumstances, attempt to take this movie seriously -- even for a moment. This is a sequel to a movie based on a cartoon show that was produced to sell toys. It's like a big bowl of sugary cereal -- kids will love it and go nuts for hours after finishing; we grownups have a narrow chance of enjoying it, and we'll probably just get a headache.

"Filly Brown" (R) -- "Majo" Tonoro (Gina Rodriguez) has a gift for hip hop. She also has a manipulative mother trying to reach out from prison (Jenni Rivera), an impressionable younger sister, a worn-out father (Lou Diamond-Phillips) and bills to pay. While Majo's lyrics are personal and political, some local record producers notice that she could be a real moneymaker if she sold out and sexed-up her act. With all that talent and all that responsibility, Majo's path is a difficult one.

The story, as you may have figured by now, feels put together from a formula set for a new genre -- the underdog hip-hop artist. Instead of doing any plotlines that are too original, the film chooses to use as many cliched subplots as possible. The performances by Rodriguez and Phillips manage to shine despite the script.

"Cloudburst" (NR) -- Stella (Olympia Dukakis) and Dot (Brenda Frick) are an elderly couple living in a little cottage in Maine. Dot has lost her sight, and her clueless but well-intentioned granddaughter commits her to a nursing home. Stella breaks her out, and the two head to Nova Scotia to be legally married. Along the way, they pick up a young hitchhiker who wants to see his dying mother. This is not your average road-trip romp. With touching performances, a good script and the right visuals, this bit of drama is certainly worth checking out.

"Black Rock" (R) -- Three women who have been friends since childhood take a trip to a tiny wooded island in Maine -- but instead of bonding, they wind up bound to a tree. Shortly after arriving, the women meet three hunters who decide to take advantage of the isolation and attack the protagonists. What follows is a tense thriller where the

"Crime of Privilege"

By Walter Walker
(Ballantine Books, $26)
Reviewed by Rose McAllister Croke

"Don't we pay for all the things we do?" wrote Hemingway. No one knows this better than George Becket, the not-so-innocent main character in Walter Walker's book "Crime of Privilege."

While he wasn't born to privilege, George understands how it works and has benefited from it through the influence of his connections. A lawyer by trade, George works in the office of the Cape and Islands district-attorney's office -- a job he acquired after he witnessed the rape of a drunken young woman by members of the Gregory family, one of Cape Cod's most revered and influential political families.

Haunted by the fact that he did little to stop the craven attack and his subsequent testimony that exonerated the perpetrators, George spends years in denial while also seeking redemption and absolution. When approached by another man whose daughter was brutally slain nine years prior at an exclusive Cape Cod golf club, George decides to launch an investigation and opens the dusty cold case file.

Again, all leads point in the direction of a single family and reveal a massive cover up by local police and key members of his very office. Despite threats to his life and revelations that threaten to destroy his world, George is driven to reconstruct the victim's final hours and find out who killed her.

George's investigation takes him from Idaho to Hawaii, Costa Rica to France and New York City. Everywhere he goes, he meets people like himself -- people who have more to gain by remaining silent than by speaking up, people haunted by past decisions and admissions never told, and all of whom were handsomely rewarded to protect the reputation of one family.

Riddled with a cast of deeply flawed and selfishly motivated characters, "Crime of Privilege" is a carefully crafted legal thriller that makes interesting observations about class, privilege, power, corruption and the uneven scales of justice.

Easy Summer Meals for Kids

It is important to provide balanced, nutritious meals for your children throughout the summer. Unfortunately, summertime can pose challenges to the family food budget because children are eating more meals at home.

If all meals are provided at home, here are some tips to help keep costs down:

- Choose a variety of healthy options so children don't get bored with the same foods. Try sandwich wraps with meat and veggies inside, fresh and canned fruits for sweetness and nutrition, and low-fat milk to round out the meal.
- Choose whole grains, which help you feel full. Whole-grain cereals and breads are great for breakfast and lunch, and whole-grain oatmeal-raisin cookies provide staying power.
- Choose new, interesting or favorite vegetables from a local farmer's market. Vegetables have lots of nutrients and fiber to help you feel full. Have vegetables washed, cut and ready in the refrigerator to add to meals or to eat as snacks.
- Drink lots of water. Water cools us off, hydrates the body and helps us feel full longer.
- Use caution with low-nutrient foods like chips, snack cakes, cookies, soda and juice drinks. These foods can be very expensive, and they are not very filling or satisfying.

--Let your children help plan meals and snacks so they can have some of their favorite foods. Planning ahead can really save money in your food budget.

--Enjoy the foods of summer -- blueberries, strawberries, peaches, watermelons and fresh garden veggies are always a treat.

--Try these garden-fresh recipes for dinner, and top them off with a fresh fruit frozen treat. Your family will love them!

FARMER'S MARKET

TURKEY WRAPS

You can swap out your child's favorite veggies to make this fresh and easy wraps! To remove corn kernels from the cob, stand an ear of corn on one end and slice the kernels off with a sharp knife. One ear will yield about 1/2 cup kernels. Look for soft sun-dried tomatoes (not oil-packed) in the produce section of most supermarkets. If you can only find dry (and hard) sun-dried tomatoes, soak them in boiling water for about 20 minutes before using.

1 cup corn kernels, fresh or frozen (thawed)
1/2 cup chopped fresh tomato

1/4 cup chopped soft sun-dried tomatoes
2 tablespoons canola oil
1 tablespoon red-wine vinegar or cider vinegar
8 thin slices low-sodium deli turkey (about 8 ounces)
4 8-inch whole-wheat tortillas
2 cups chopped romaine lettuce

Combine corn, tomato, sun-dried tomatoes, oil and vinegar in a medium bowl. Divide turkey among tortillas. Top with equal portions of the corn salad and lettuce. Roll up. Serve wraps cut in half, if desired. Serves 4.

FRESH FRUIT POPS

Use 10 (3-ounce or similar-size) freezer-pop molds or 10 (4-ounce) plastic or paper cups and 10 wooden craft sticks. Freeze for up to 3 weeks.

3 3/4 cups chopped seedless watermelon
2 tablespoons lime juice
1-2 tablespoons sugar or agave syrup
1 cup fresh blueberries

1. Puree watermelon, lime juice and sugar to taste in a food processor or blender until smooth.

2. Divide blueberries among freezer-pop molds or 10 (4-ounce) plastic or paper cups. Top with the watermelon mixture. Insert the sticks and freeze until completely firm, about 6 hours. Dip the molds briefly in hot water before unmolding. Makes about 10 (3-ounce) freezer pops.

UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state, will be held by duly appointed trustee. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the deed of trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. BENEFICIARY MAY ELECT TO BID LESS THAN THE TOTAL AMOUNT DUE. Trustor(s): SELINA TYSON and BRIAN TYSON, WIFE AND HUSBAND AS JOINT TENANTS. Recorded: 4/30/2004 as Instrument No. 2004-0018188-00 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of YOLO County, California; Date of Sale: 7/24/2013 at 12:45:00 PM. Place of Sale: At the north entrance to the West Sacramento City Hall located at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, CA 95691. Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $191,293.33. The purported property address is: 813 Garnet Street, West Sacramento, CA 95691. Assessor's Parcel No.: 067-090-014-1. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924 of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.reconstrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case 12-0084088. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.
